Mayur-SASA showcases Diwali, Eid

Carnegie Mellon’s Mayur-SASA will be hosting a joint celebration of Diwali and Eid al-Fitr in the University Center’s Vagelos Gym on Thursday. The event will include games, crafts, live performances, and a buffet of South Indian food.

The games and craft portion of the event will include diyas, making of which attendees can make on their own. The event is open to everyone and will also include lessons in navaratri, a type of dance that originated in South India. The section is specifically geared toward orienting younger participants. Some of Carnegie Mellon’s premier dancing and singing groups will be making an appearance at the event as part of the live performance portion. Chak Da, a Himachali dance group; Tn enlisted, another dance troupe; and Deewane, a South Asian all-male capella group, will each showcase its talents through the celebration.

A second part of the event’s performance portion will include prayers for both Diwali and Eid. Mayur-SASA members will present a short speech that will explain both of the events’ histories and significance.

Keynote lectures highlight diversity

EMILY FOLEY

This year, the International Festival will be a part of Global Weekend, and will celebrate Carnegie Mellon’s ethnic and cultural diversity. Although typically held during a separate weekend from Homecoming and Family weekend, the International Festival is now part of a larger celebration. The keynote will include keynote lectures, traditional religion ceremonies, and an international food fair and dance floor.

The main events of the International Festival will concern keynote lectures and discussions by Profs. H. F. Fu, M.D., and renowned Chris Abani.

On Thursday, Fu will host a discussion on his personal experiences and his career in the medical profession, specifically within the field of orthopedic surgery. This lecture will be followed by a Q & A session.

Fu grew up in Hong Kong and later made his way to America, where he attended Dartmouth College as well as Dartmouth Medical School. Students celebrate during the International Festival in 2010. This year’s activities will include a keynote lecture and a poster and photo fair.

He eventually arrived in Pittsburgh, where he attended University of Pittsburgh’s School of Medicine. Since then, Fu has worked for 30 years.

He specialized in sports injuries and spearheaded the creation of UPMC’s $80 million Sports Performance Complex, a state-of-the-art sports medicine complex which opened in 2000. The center has acted as a model for other medical complexes around the world and has attracted a variety of major corporations to the area.

The Scotch’n’Soda theater production portrays this bizarre world. The production has been highly anticipated by students, largely due to the work of the Scotch'n’Soda theater group, who has been one of the leading Citrus dancers on campus. The production is an important component at these events, where dance numbers are most likely to be dances in the Scottish dance. Depending on the production, Scottish dances are also likely to be dances in the Lowland Scottish dance.
Annual Alumni Awards recognize admirable, diverse achievements

EMILY DOBLER

The Alumni Awards ceremony, organized by the Alumni Association every year, honors and celebrates alumni, faculty, and students for their contributions to Carnegie Mellon (See p. 15 for info). The ceremony will be held in the Hillman Hall of the College of Fine Arts (See p. 15).

One of the rarest awards in the program is the Alumni Association Inspiration Award, which recognizes those alumni who exemplify the characteristics it values as most representative of Carnegie Mellon—creativity in problem-solving, interdisciplinary collaboration, and generosity of spirit in inspiring and supporting others. For example, this award was given to Emily Pausch (S ‘07) in 2007.

The Alumni Awards program has been a long-standing tradition for Carnegie Mellon. According to the Alumni Association’s website, “Among our greatest assets are the alumni, friends and students who continue to make our university’s vigorous pursuit of excellence possible.”

The award program was created to strengthen alumni relations as well as recognize exceptional dedication to the university.

See CLEVENGER, A7

Lazarus reflects on medical profession

JENNY CHANG

Daniel Fawcett is the president of MDX Digital Media, which manages all of FOX’s online technologies, having previously worked with the surgeon, Lazarus served as an engineer from the outside...
October 27-29

Cèilidh Weekend
Carnegie Mellon University

Thurs. 11 am
@The Fence
Kick-off BBQ

Fri. 4 pm
@UC Wean Commons
Eat Your Pride!

Fri. 5 pm
@UC Rangos
Alumni Awards

Fri. 9 pm
@UC Rangos
Student Showcase

Sat. 11:30 am
@UC Wiegand Gym
Tailgate Party

For the full schedule of events, visit cmu.edu/ceilidh.
Like the FB page: www.facebook.com/CMUCeilidh
Follow us on Twitter! #CMUCeilidh
School of Music to perform two one-act opera pieces

The ensemble will perform "Triptych operas known as Il trittico," which premiered in 1918, and focuses on Sister Angelica, a convent in 17th-century Italy. The operas are known for their "Mahagonny-Songspiel" and Giacomo Puccini's "Sacred and Profane." The performance will be part of the School of Music's opera performance program, consisting of two one-act pieces, and will be performed by the All University Orchestra and the Songspiel Chapter of the All University Orchestra.

The second act, "Mahagonny," is a cantata based on Brecht's "Mahagonny-Songspiel" and Gauvain Pucci's "Sister Angelica." The text for "Sister Angelica," which is set in the 1500s, is based on the novel "Tartar Angels," and follows "everyman" people who go to the fabled land of Mahagonny, where they are going to the fabled land of Mahagonny, where they can do anything they want, explained Tyler Alderson, a junior vocal performance major.

The ensemble will also feature a dual religious celebration of Diwali and Eid, traditional Muslim and Indian festivals, respectively.

Audience members can purchase tickets for students for $10, and tickets will be available for purchase during the week. Since this event is a combination of two celebrations, the School of Music will showcase Carnegie Mellon's various religious and cultural traditions, and will celebrate the religious and cultural histories of South Asian countries, as well as the different traditions within the Carnegie Mellon student body.

Anne Walsh
Pittsburgh Tribune-Review

The Tartan • October 24, 2011

Student group celebrates Diwali, Eid ul-Fitr holidays

The School of Music will celebrate the Diwali and Eid ul-Fitr holidays with a special event. The event will feature performances by the All University Orchestra and the Songspiel Chapter of the All University Orchestra.

The second religious celebration will feature a "Diwali Cèilidh Weekend." This event will highlight the religious and cultural traditions of South Asian countries, and will celebrate the religious and cultural histories of South Asian countries, as well as the different traditions within the Carnegie Mellon student body.

The character has been made "tough, because you have to make extrapolations — so using the text is blunt and all hell breaks loose, because it's essentially an ensemble piece," Abani said. "There aren't a lot of words..." He was able to write freely and "they eventually got disillusioned." The ensemble follows "everyman people trying their lives and their hearts go to the fabled land of Mahagonny, where they can do anything they want," explained Tyler Alderson, a junior vocal performance major.

The ensemble nature of the opera provided more than just vocal challenges. "It's tough because you have to internally complete individual characters. So even when you over-sell, there's minimal..."

The ensemble will feature a "Diwali Cèilidh Weekend." This event will showcase Carnegie Mellon's various religious and cultural traditions, and will celebrate the religious and cultural histories of South Asian countries, as well as the different traditions within the Carnegie Mellon student body.

The ensemble nature of the opera provided more than just vocal challenges. "It's tough because you have to make extrapolations — so using the text is blunt and all hell breaks loose, because it's essentially an ensemble piece," Abani said. "There aren't a lot of words..." He was able to write freely and "they eventually got disillusioned." The ensemble follows "everyman people trying their lives and their hearts go to the fabled land of Mahagonny, where they can do anything they want," explained Tyler Alderson, a junior vocal performance major.

The ensemble nature of the opera provided more than just vocal challenges. "It's tough because you have to make extrapolations — so using the text is blunt and all hell breaks loose, because it's essentially an ensemble piece," Abani said. "There aren't a lot of words..." He was able to write freely and "they eventually got disillusioned." The ensemble follows "everyman people trying their lives and their hearts go to the fabled land of Mahagonny, where they can do anything they want," explained Tyler Alderson, a junior vocal performance major.

The ensemble nature of the opera provided more than just vocal challenges. "It's tough because you have to make extrapolations — so using the text is blunt and all hell breaks loose, because it's essentially an ensemble piece," Abani said. "There aren't a lot of words..." He was able to write freely and "they eventually got disillusioned." The ensemble follows "everyman people trying their lives and their hearts go to the fabled land of Mahagonny, where they can do anything they want," explained Tyler Alderson, a junior vocal performance major.

The ensemble nature of the opera provided more than just vocal challenges. "It's tough because you have to make extrapolations — so using the text is blunt and all hell breaks loose, because it's essentially an ensemble piece," Abani said. "There aren't a lot of words..." He was able to write freely and "they eventually got disillusioned." The ensemble follows "everyman people trying their lives and their hearts go to the fabled land of Mahagonny, where they can do anything they want," explained Tyler Alderson, a junior vocal performance major.

The ensemble nature of the opera provided more than just vocal challenges. "It's tough because you have to make extrapolations — so using the text is blunt and all hell breaks loose, because it's essentially an ensemble piece," Abani said. "There aren't a lot of words..." He was able to write freely and "they eventually got disillusioned." The ensemble follows "everyman people trying their lives and their hearts go to the fabled land of Mahagonny, where they can do anything they want," explained Tyler Alderson, a junior vocal performance major.
I am (check all that apply):

- One of those people who caught onto the Polaroid fad
- An aspiring Warhol
- An undercover paparazzi with too much free time
- A former Myspace kid

Join photo staff.
photo@thetartan.org

International Festival

Lecture and Q&A with Freddie H. Fu, M.D.
Thursday, October 27th
4:30 – 6:00 PM
Connon Room, University Center

Light refreshments will be served and students do not need to pre-register.

Dr. Fu is primarily responsible for the conception and oversight of the design and construction of the $80 million UPMC Sports Performance Complex in Pittsburgh. Come hear his story of home, growing up in Hong Kong, and success today.

Keynote Lecture and Lunch with Chris Abani
Friday, October 28, 2011
12:30 – 2:00 PM
Rangos Hall, University Center

Lunch is guaranteed for those who pre-registered, but all are welcome to attend.

Imprisoned by the Nigerian government as a teenager for his writings, Chris Abani is one of the best writers to emerge from Africa in half a century.

Official sponsor of performance

At Deloitte, we embrace your ambition and continue to cultivate it in our high-performance culture. It’s no surprise we’re an official sponsor of the U.S. Olympic and Paralympic Teams.

What does it take to be a champion? Find out Thursday, October 27, when Deloitte brings inspirational athletes from Team USA to share their powerful stories of high performance, ambition, and leadership.

Date: October 27
Time: 5:30 p.m. – 6:30 p.m.
Location: Ballroom, Soldiers & Sailors Memorial & Museum Trust, Inc.
Meet: April Holmes (track and field), Johnathan Horton (gymnastics), and Evan Lysacek (figure skating)
Be a part of Carnegie Mellon University’s inaugural Cèilidh Weekend, a celebration for the entire CMU family, combining the traditions of Homecoming Weekend, International Festival and Family Weekend.

Cèilidh [kə-lid]: n. a Scottish Gaelic term meaning “visit,” used to describe a celebration with stories and tales, poems and ballads, music and dance. Cèilidhs were traditionally hosted in the homes of family and friends.

Carnegie Mellon University

For more information, visit www.cmu.edu/ceilidh or call 1-866-401-9529
Acclaimed horn player returns to CMU as respected guest, speaker

Clevenger, from A2

claim as an instrumentalist in the CSO, the Milwaukee Journal praised his playing as "satin smooth," and the Chicago

Tribune wrote, "Dale Cleveng-

er has been widely and justly admired in every musical capacity."

He has received three

Grammy awards, recorded six

albums, and premiered John

Williams’ Concerto for Horn

and Orchestra, a piece the CSO

commissioned for Clevenger.

He also held an adjunct professorship at Northwestern

University’s Bienen School of Music for 27 years.

Clevenger has also worked as a conductor, leading multiple orchestras, including

the New Japan Philharmonic,

the Shanghai Symphony Orchestra, and the National Philharmonic of Slovakia. He admitted, however,

that between playing the horn

and conducting an orchestra,
"conducting is easier."

Even though he has held

the same position for over 40

years, Clevenger is still passionate about his career: "I get to wake up every day and do what I love," he said.

Despite all his personal

successes as a musician, Clev-

ger considers his moments

as an ensemble member to be the highlight of his musical career. "The [CSO] went and

performed in New York City at carnegie Hall for the fi rst time

in several years ... and the audience applauded for over

20 minutes," he recalled. "I’d

never heard of anything like it

before then or since then.

Clevenger recently en-dered a personal tragedy. His wife, Alice Clevenger, died

this past March after battling cancer for eight years. "I still can’t talk about her without crying... You don’t move on;"

he said, as he choked up.

From this loss, though,

sprang the generosity of his friends and peers. This September, after returning home

from the CSO’s European tour,
Clevenger received a package from Williams. "At fi rst I thought it was just some fi nal

revisions [on the

Concerto for

Horn and Orchestra]",

"But then I opened it up and I saw what he had done." Williams had composed a piece titled Serenade for Horn and Strings dedicated to Alice

Clevenger.

"I cried for 20 minutes

[w]hen I saw that because I knew what it meant," he said.

"It meant he had dropped ev-

everything... for however long it took [to compose the piece for her]." By comparison, it had taken 10 years for his commissioned Concerto for Horn and Orchestra to be completed.

While Clevenger said that he would not be able to perform the piece, as it would be too emotional, he does already have an idea as to where it will premier. He established the

Alice R. Clevenger Scholar-

ship in his wife’s memory at

Roosevelt University, where she was a horn professor, and he hopes to throw a benefi t

concert to raise funds for the scholarship. Yo-Yo Ma, who became the CSO’s fi rst creative consultant in 2009, has already agreed to perform at the concert.

Clevenger will deliver a lecture in Kresge Theatre on

Friday at 2 p.m. and a master

class in Kresge on Saturday at 9:30 a.m., both of which are open to all School of Music

students, faculty, and staff.

Friday at 3:30 p.m., pre-registration is required to atcend.

Clevenger will lead a lecture and a master class this Friday and Saturday, respectively.

The Alumni Awards Ceremony

will take place in Rangos Hall

on Friday at 5:30 p.m.; pre-registration is required to at-

cend.

A PERSON’S OPINION

Compiled by Tommy Hofman

What Homecoming events are you looking forward to?

Elissa Goldner

CivE

Junior

“I’m looking forward to the football game.”

Ahni Jain

Economics

Junior

“I can’t wait to see the Alumni

Brunch.”

Emerson Silva

MacI

Sophomore

“Football game.”

Alexander McHugh

CivE

Junior

“When Larry brings out the Scotty dogs.”

Kyle Woltersdorf

Architecture

Junior

“We have homecoming!”

What Homecoming events are you looking forward to?

WELCOME BACK STUDENTS!

GRAB YOUR PLANNER AND HEAD TO QDOBA

Monday*

DOUBLE POINTS DAY

Earn double points on the Qdoba Rewards program.

Tuesday*

TACO-TASTIC TUESDAY

Enjoy tacos for only $1.

Everyday

FREE STUDENT DRINK

Purchase an entree of your choice and receive a regular fountain drink for FREE (must show ID).

BAR SPECIALS (FORBES LOCATION)

Stop in and enjoy our daily beer specials!

*Valid at all Pittsburgh locations.

Offers valid for a limited time only, Not valid with other offers.
Limit one per customer. Please see restaurant for details.

The Tartan • October 24, 2011 • thetartan.org/special • A7

Acclaimed horn player returns to CMU as respected guest, speaker

Clevenger, from A2

claim as an instrumentalist in the CSO, the Milwaukee Journal praised his playing as “satin smooth,” and the Chicago

Tribune wrote, “Dale Cleveng-

er has been widely and justly

admired in every musical capacity.”

He has received three

Grammy awards, recorded six

albums, and premiered John

Williams’ Concerto for Horn

and Orchestra, a piece the CSO

commissioned for Clevenger.

He also held an adjunct pro-

fessorship at Northwestern

University’s Bienen School of Music for 27 years.

Clevenger has also worked

as a conductor, leading multiple orchestras, including

the New Japan Philharmonic,

the Shanghai Symphony Orchestra, and the National Philharmonic of Slovakia. He admitted, however,

that between playing the horn

and conducting an orchestra,
"conducting is easier."

Even though he has held

the same position for over 40

years, Clevenger is still passionate about his career: "I get

to wake up every day and do

what I love," he said.

Despite all his personal

successes as a musician, Clev-

ger considers his moments

as an ensemble member to be

the highlight of his musical

career. "The [CSO] went and

performed in New York City at

carnegie Hall for the fi rst time

in several years ... and the audience applauded for over

20 minutes," he recalled. "I’d

never heard of anything like it

before then or since then.

Clevenger recently en-dered a personal tragedy. His wife, Alice Clevenger, died

this past March after battling cancer for eight years. "I still can’t talk about her without

crying... You don’t move on;"

he said, as he choked up.

From this loss, though,

sprang the generosity of his friends and peers. This September, after returning home

from the CSO’s European tour,
Clevenger received a package from Williams. "At fi rst I thought it was just some fi nal

revisions [on the

Concerto for

Horn and Orchestra]",

"But then I opened it up and I saw what he had done." Williams had composed a piece

titled Serenade for Horn and Strings dedicated to Alice
Clevenger.

"I cried for 20 minutes

[w]hen I saw that because I

knew what it meant," he said.

"It meant he had dropped ev-

everything... for however long it

took [to compose the piece for her]." By comparison, it had taken 10 years for his commissioned Concerto for Horn and

Orchestra to be completed.

While Clevenger said that he would not be able to perform the piece, as it would be

too emotional, he does already

have an idea as to where it will premier. He established the

Alice R. Clevenger Scholar-

ship in his wife’s memory at

Roosevelt University, where

 she was a horn professor, and

he hopes to throw a benefi t

concert to raise funds for the

scholarship. Yo-Yo Ma, who

became the CSO’s fi rst creative consultant in 2009, has already agreed to perform at the concert.

Clevenger will deliver a lecture in Kresge Theatre on

Friday at 2 p.m. and a master

class in Kresge on Saturday at 9:30 a.m., both of which are

open to all School of Music

students, faculty, and staff.

Friday at 3:30 p.m., pre-registration is required to at-

cend.

Clevenger will lead a lecture and a master class this Friday and Saturday, respectively.

The Alumni Awards Ceremony

will take place in Rangos Hall

on Friday at 5:30 p.m.; pre-

registration is required to at-

cend.

A PERSON’S OPINION

Compiled by Tommy Hofman

What Homecoming events are you looking forward to?

Elissa Goldner

CivE

Junior

I’m looking forward to the football game.

Ahni Jain

Economics

Junior

*I’m most excited for the Alumni

Brunch.*

Emerson Silva

MacI

Sophomore

The football game.

Alexander McHugh

CivE

Junior

*When Larry brings out the Scotty
dogs.*

Kyle Woltersdorf

Architecture

Junior

We have homecoming!
Céilidh Weekend 2011 Event Locations

Baker Hall
11 College of Fine Arts
Cyst Hall
5 Doerthy Hall
10 The Fence

Frew Street
Gates Hillman Complex
Gesling Stadium
Greek Quadrangle
Hamburg Hall

Library
13 Margaret Morrison Carnegie Hall
Newell-Simon Hall
Pioneer Hall - Tipper Porter Hall

Purnell Center for the Arts
8 University Center
Warner Hall
7 West Wing
18

Carnegie Mellon Opera Production of Sacred and Profane
Philip Cheeky Theater, Purnell Center for the Arts
The School of Music will present Sacred and Profane, which will feature productions of “Sole Angélus,” composed by Giacomo Puccini, and “Madame-Grange-Spoggiul,” composed by Kurt Weill and written by Berthold Brecht. "Sole Angélus" will be performed in Italian with a projected English translation and “Madame-Grange-Spoggiul” will be performed in English. Tickets are priced at $15 for students, $12 for senior citizens, and $10 for Carnegie Mellon students. They can be purchased online at www.cm.edu or by calling x8-2407.

Thursday–Saturday: 8 p.m., 1 perform. Sunday: 2 p.m.

Scotch’n’Soda Production: Unintentional
McConomy Auditorium, University Center
This weekend, Scotch’n’Soda will present its production of Unintentional, which won Tony Awards for Best Musical, Best Book of a Musical, and Best Direction of a Musical. Combining live acting, 3-D modeling, and hand-drawn animation, with Diwali, a prominent Hindu festival that celebrates the end of Rama- tive realities and futures, and how viewers to imagine alterna-

Thursday–Friday: 8 a.m.–11 p.m. Saturday–Sunday: 1–4 p.m.

Céilidh Weekend Kick-off BBQ
The Fence
The student Céilidh Weekend Committee will host a barbe-

Thursday: 2–11 p.m.

International Festival Lecture: Keynote Lecture & Lunch
Mellon Auditorium, University Center
The keynote lecture of this year’s International Festival will be given by Chris Ahrens, a Nigerian author whose execu-

Thursday: 12:30–1:30 p.m.

International Festival Lecture with Freddie H. Fu, M.D.
Carnegie Museum of Natural History, Hall of Human Origins

Saturday, October 22, 2011

Behind The Last Lecture
Rachael Auditorium, Hillman Center for the Arts

Saturday: 10:30 a.m.

Carnegie Mellon Taurans vs. Washington University Bears
Geising Stadium
A $5 admission to the game is available with a game pro-

Saturday: Noon

Ahead of Time, The Extraordinary Journey of Ruth Gruber Knegs Theatre, College of Fine Arts

Saturday: 3–5 p.m.

Interviews with Freddie H. Fu, M.D.
Saturday: 2:30–3:30 p.m.

Men’s Soccer vs. Brandeis
(H Soccer Field located next to Geising Stadium)
Sunday: 1 p.m.

Women’s Soccer vs. Brandeis
(H Soccer Field located next to Geising Stadium)
Sunday: 1:30 p.m.

Carnegie Mellon Chamber Orchestra
Carnegie Music Hall, Oakland
The Carnegie Mellon Chamber Orchestra will perform Symphony No. 34 (Mozart), Piano Concertos in G (Bach), Concerto Romance (Gupta), and Symphony No. 35 (Mo-

Thursday–Saturday: 8 p.m., 1 perform. Sunday: 2 p.m.

Melinda McCombs, conductor

Saturday: Noon–6 p.m.

Botany and History Entwined: Rachel Hunt’s Legacy
5th Floor, Hunt Library
Hunt Institution will celebrate its 150th anniversary with an orig-

Thursday–Sunday: 1–4 p.m.

Celebration of Diwali & Eid
IMSCC Gym, University Center
Morrison Carnegie Hall

Saturday: Noon–6 p.m.

Sustainable Marcellus Shale Development? Yes We Can!
Refgees Hall, University Center
The Alumni Association will celebrate the students, faculty, and alumni who have made notable contributions to both the Carnegie Mellon commu-

Saturday: 2–3:30 p.m.

Pittsburgh, 2010
Room 203, Margaret Morrison Carnegie Hall
While Pittsburgh is a fantasy film, it is set within Pittsburgh as imagined by Doug Cooper (A ’70), the Andrew Mellon Professor of Architecture. The film incorporates aspects of love acting, 3-D modeling, and hand drawn animation.

Saturday: 2 p.m.

ACaPittsburgh
CMU’s Student Center
Counterpoint is sponsoring the ACaPittsburgh event, fea-

Saturday–Sunday: 1–4 p.m.

Women’s Soccer vs. Brandeis
(H Soccer Field located next to Geising Stadium)
Sunday: 1 p.m.

Carnegie Mellon Chamber Orchestra
Carnegie Music Hall, Oakland
The Carnegie Mellon Chamber Orchestra will perform Symphony No. 34 (Mozart), Piano Concertos in G (Bach), Concerto Romance (Gupta), and Symphony No. 35 (Mo-

Thursday–Saturday: 8 p.m., 1 perform. Sunday: 2 p.m.

Melinda McCombs, conductor

Saturday: Noon–6 p.m.

Botany and History Entwined: Rachel Hunt’s Legacy
5th Floor, Hunt Library
Hunt Institution will celebrate its 150th anniversary with an orig-

Thursday–Sunday: 1–4 p.m.

Celebration of Diwali & Eid
IMSCC Gym, University Center
Morrison Carnegie Hall

Saturday: Noon–6 p.m.

Sustainable Marcellus Shale Development? Yes We Can!
Refgees Hall, University Center
The Alumni Association will celebrate the students, faculty, and alumni who have made notable contributions to both the Carnegie Mellon commu-

Saturday: 2–3:30 p.m.

Pittsburgh, 2010
Room 203, Margaret Morrison Carnegie Hall
While Pittsburgh is a fantasy film, it is set within Pittsburgh as imagined by Doug Cooper (A ’70), the Andrew Mellon Professor of Architecture. The film incorporates aspects of love acting, 3-D modeling, and hand drawn animation.

Saturday: 2 p.m.

ACaPittsburgh
CMU’s Student Center
Counterpoint is sponsoring the ACaPittsburgh event, fea-

Saturday–Sunday: 1–4 p.m.

Celebration of Diwali & Eid
IMSCC Gym, University Center
Morrison Carnegie Hall

Saturday: Noon–6 p.m.

Sustainable Marcellus Shale Development? Yes We Can!
Refgees Hall, University Center
The Alumni Association will celebrate the students, faculty, and alumni who have made notable contributions to both the Carnegie Mellon commu-

Saturday: 2–3:30 p.m.

Pittsburgh, 2010
Room 203, Margaret Morrison Carnegie Hall
While Pittsburgh is a fantasy film, it is set within Pittsburgh as imagined by Doug Cooper (A ’70), the Andrew Mellon Professor of Architecture. The film incorporates aspects of love acting, 3-D modeling, and hand drawn animation.

Saturday: 2 p.m.

ACaPittsburgh
CMU’s Student Center
Counterpoint is sponsoring the ACaPittsburgh event, fea-